

FEUDISTS HAD CLASH

Several Revolver Shots Were Fired During Melees.

CURSING AND RUNNING

Caused Great Excitement in Two Neighborhoods.

Last evening two sections of the city were considerably excited because of some promiscuous shooting, swearing, running and riding about of a crowd of men. Every indication points to a feud brewing between people of the city and last night the participants got together at two points and had a shooting affray coupled with a good deal of cursing and running. The neighborhood on West Douglas avenue near the crossing of the Missouri Pacific tracks was aroused shortly before 10 o'clock by a man riding east as fast as his horse could carry him. In a few minutes he returned and another man followed, walking.

Suddenly there began a yelling near the railroad tracks, and four revolver shots rang out in rapid succession. The yelling continued for several minutes and then the crowd moved eastward along the avenue.

Miss Grace O'Brien, living at 14th West Douglas avenue, stated to the Eagle that the men there seemed to be about ten or twelve of them, some mounted and some walking—were talking very loud and using considerable bad language as they passed her home. She heard one man exclaim that "he could never be taken alive," and that it would require a good-sized crowd to handle him. These statements were made as the crowd passed down the street and it was not possible to distinguish more of the words in the loud talking of the men.

Several other people living along or close to the avenue heard the shots and saw the crowd. The people were considerably aroused and thought a pitched battle must be raging between gangs of men.

About 10:30 yesterday evening, as the "Collegians" brothers were coming east on Maple street and were nearing the west approach of the Maple street bridge in their automobile, they were startled by the flashes and reports of five shots fired in rapid succession by persons at the east approach of the bridge.

The flashes could be plainly seen from the west side of the bridge and two of them appeared to be from the south side of Maple street and three from the north side. After the shooting things were quiet for a short time and not wishing to have trouble, the boys decided to go back the way they came, but finally propelled their auto across the bridge. When they reached the east side of the bridge a crowd of neighbors had gathered there and were searching for an explanation of the shooting. None of those who are supposed to have done the shooting were on the spot, but when the crowd of excited people first gathered they saw two crowds of men, each crowd going in a different direction. One crowd, which consisted of four or five persons, were seen walking rapidly north in the jungle along the river and the other crowd went east on Maple street. Both crowds were cursing and growing among themselves and in fact conducting themselves in a very peculiar manner. No attempt was made to follow either party, but as they were not seen afterward in a crowd it is thought that they separated when they reached the well lighted street bridge.

The police have been unable to solve the mystery that surrounds the two shooting affrays, and it was claimed that it was just a bunch of men out having a good time, but the people in the two neighborhoods do not believe the police theory a little bit. In both instances the men seemed very angry at some one. Many of the people on the West Side believe that two crowds had a fight near the Missouri Pacific tracks. One of the men located the other crowd and told his fellows, who went to the scene and scattered out in two and three and then returned together after putting their opponents to rout, and that the two crowds or a part of them came together again at the Maple street bridge.

It is believed that a crowd from one part of town with a bridge against another crowd started out to wipe the others off the earth and the two came together first on the West Side and later at the bridge.

Both neighborhoods were aroused over the shooting and several persons started out to investigate the matter, but have so far failed to solve the mystery.

IS ENJOYING LIFE.

Bert Colby Laughs About His Imprisonment.

Bert Colby, who is charged with complicity in the Montgomery murder at Winfield, and who has been in the jail in this city for several days, was taken back to Winfield by Deputy Sheriff Cal Ferguson, yesterday. When seen at the station yesterday he did not seem to be worried in the least, and laughed and jollied about his imprisonment. He said, yesterday, as he reached forward his shackled hands:

"You can now say that you have shaken hands with the notorious outlaw and desperado, Bert Colby, who is wanted on various charges."

He seems to be a philosopher, and is able to adapt himself to any condition. When asked why he appeared so happy and contented when he was held under so grave a charge, he answered that he had learned that it was always best to take what came to a person, and that he never worried about anything.

Colby is a young man and is well built. He is of medium height, but is broad through the shoulders and his muscles are large and fine. He is neat in appearance and has a pleasant, friendly way in his conversation. He was employed on the 18th ranch at the time of the Montgomery murder, and it has recently developed that he was an intimate friend of Coffey, the man who has been tried three times for the murder. He has been confined at Winfield, charged with horse stealing, but was brought to Winfield to stand trial as an accomplice of Coffey in the November term of court in that city. Some repairs were being made on the jail at Winfield, and Colby was brought to the county jail in this city for safe-keeping until the repairs were finished.

MR. BARNES TALKS SOME MORE.

Says W. F. Schell Is Not a Member of Horticultural Association.

The fight being waged by Mr. Barnes, secretary of the State Horticultural society, on W. F. Schell, who has been appointed by the Kansas commission of the Louisiana Purchase exposition, to have charge of the Kansas horticultural exhibit at the fair, broke out again at Topeka with another talk by Mr. Barnes on Mr. Schell not being a "union" man. Mr. Barnes is quoted as follows:

"Mr. Barnes declares that Mr. Schell of Winfield, whom the fair commissioners want to put at the head of the Kansas fruit exhibit, will not be endorsed by a majority of the trustees of the horticultural society. The commissioners have announced that unless Mr. Schell is endorsed by the horticultural society, he will not be appointed."

"Since the secretary of the commission has seen fit to make public the personal letter which I wrote," says Mr. Barnes, "I don't know that there is any reason why I should withhold any criticism I care to make. As far as that letter to the secretary is concerned, I am perfectly willing to stand by it. I can see only one expression in that letter which would change, and that is the one in which it might be taken that I express a desire for the appointment. It stated that the secretary of the horticultural society should be in charge of the appointment, but I did so intending that it should be taken as a sort of third person reference. I believe that the horticultural society should be in charge of the exhibit. I have not time to devote to this exhibit, and even if I should be appointed, as I do not expect to be, it would have to be merely as head. I have not time to spend in St. Louis doing the actual work."

"Personally I consider Mr. Schell a fine man, and do not doubt he can get plenty of endorsements, but he will not get the endorsement of the majority of the trustees of the horticultural society because he is not a member of the horticultural society. He is a nursery man, not a horticulturist."

"This commission was appointed by Governor Stanley. Mr. Lulling was made secretary out of compliment to Stanley, because they are both from the same town. Schell is also from the same town. Governor Stanley is a stockholder in Schell's nursery. Is it any wonder that the commissioners and Mr. Lulling should try to get the job for him? He was a Wichita applicant and Mr. Stanley and Mr. Lulling will not doubt both try to land him the job. But I have heard from several of the trustees of the horticultural society, and I do not believe that the plan to appoint Mr. Schell will meet with approval."

AN OLD IDEA

Shown to Be Absolutely False by Modern Science.

People used to think that badness was one of those things which are handed down from generation to generation, from father to son—just like a family heirloom. Science has shown that the inheritance of badness is not a constitutional disease, but the result of a germ invasion of which only heredity can occasionally rid the scalp.

Washing only cleans the scalp of Dandruff, it doesn't kill the germ. "Destroy the cause and you remove the effect."

Newbro's Herpicide will do this in every case. It is a delightful dressing. Sold by leading druggists. Send for stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Moore Drug Co., special agents.

NOT PERMANENTLY ABANDONED

It Is Believed that Choctaw Extension Will Be Completed.

A week ago a notice was published in the Eagle that the Rock Island had ordered the construction work stopped on the extension of the Choctaw from Amarillo, Texas, to Tucuman, N. M., where it would connect with the Rock Island's El Paso line to the Pacific through the Memphis gateway. That the work has not been abandoned permanently is evidenced by the following dispatch from Tucuman:

"Quite a bit of surprise was felt here last Friday, when word was received by all the sub-contractors working on the construction of the Choctaw at this place, and out on the line, to stop work. It was not known just what the cause was, and various conjectures were made. In none of which was there a doubt expressed as to the resumption of work at an early date. The contractors are working night and day to finish out the ten days which the contract allows them after notice is given. Over 70 per cent of the grade between here and Amarillo is finished, and the road should have been completed within two months and trains running."

"The real reason of the stoppage of the work is that there is a fight on between the Rock Island and the Texas railroad commission and as soon as the matter is settled, which will doubtless be in the federal courts, work will be resumed on the Choctaw."

WANT FARMERS' AID

Railroads Ask Them to Store Their Wheat.

TO AVOID CAR SHORTAGE

Farmers Haul Grain to Cars As It Comes from Threshers.

The railroads are doing everything in their power to prevent such a serious car famine this year as they had on their hands last year. While each one had a large number of cars made it was found that these would not accommodate the business. Then they found that the flood in Kansas City had so damaged the yard facilities that it was impossible to send cars through that city and the roads refused shipment for or through Kansas City.

The latest move of the roads entering this city is asking the farmers to hold off their shipments for a short time. Nearly all of the western roads have men in the wheat fields pleading with the farmers to store their wheat, or a part of it, and ship it later on. It seems according to the railroads, that the farmers are threshing their wheat as fast as possible, and that they are rushing it to market just as fast as the grain comes from the machine. On this account the car shortage came earlier this year than last.

The railroads ask the farmers to store their wheat for thirty or sixty days and promise to furnish the cars to the farmer at that time if he will keep his grain off the market. The railroads are trying to arrange with the farmers to hold their grain according to a scale that will bring about the same amount of wheat to market every week. The roads claim that they can handle, in good shape, most of the grain that is coming in now, but they have calls for cars which they are unable to furnish. They are working to their greatest capacity at present and expect to have all kinds of trouble within a short time, unless they can persuade the farmers to store their grain.

Many of the farmers have only small bins fit to store wheat, and the elevators are small and few in number, not near enough to accommodate the wheat crop. The farmers, therefore, haul their wheat directly from the machine to the cars, and want to ship it right away and get it off their hands.

MANY WERE KILLED.

In Railroad Wrecks During First Quarter of This Year.

A quarterly report of the railroad accidents for the three months ending March 31, 1903, has been made public by the Interstate Commerce Commission and the bulletins have been received here. The total number of collisions and derailments during that time has been 2,331, of which 1,650 were collisions and 1,181 derailments. There were 261 collisions and 125 derailments affecting passenger trains.

The total number of casualties resulting from all kinds of accidents to passengers and employees has been brought up to 87 killed and 11,481 injured. The bulletin issued by the commission shows a collision in which 22 passengers were killed and a collision of two freight trains in which 12 employees were killed. Many items in the tabulation show an apparent increase as compared with similar items for the preceding quarter, but this is partly explained by the fact that the commission now secures more complete returns of accidents than have been given in heretofore by the railroads.

ASKS FOR RECEIVER.

John Kennedy Says His Partner Ignores Him.

John L. Kennedy, who states that he and C. W. Starns are joint owners of a threshing machine, filed a petition in the district court yesterday asking the court to call for an accounting from his partner, and also to appoint a receiver to take charge of the threshing business of the partners. He states that he and the defendant went into an oral contract June 25, by the terms of which they were to be co-partners, but that the defendant ignores the plaintiff and the contract and insists upon having the sole right to collect the money due the partners. He states that the defendant pays out what he deems proper and refuses to show receipts to the plaintiff for money which he alleges he has paid out.

IT WILL COME BACK.

Some Wichita Residents Have Learned How to Keep It Awry.

Your back may not ache very long. But the ache will return shortly. Come off—stay longer.

Unless the kidneys are relieved, Dean's Kidney Pills cure all kidney ills. Wichita people endorse them.

Mr. E. L. Bread, fireman at the Cudahy Packing Co., living at 98 South Market street, says: "I was off work for three days on account of my back when I went to the Moore Drug Co., 23 Douglas avenue, for Dean's Kidney Pills. I could neither stoop nor straighten, the kidney secretions were irregular, sometimes dark and sometimes light and variable in quantity. Just previous to my compulsory holiday I had been using medicine, but the results obtained were very transient. I had read about Dean's Kidney Pills in eastern papers and became convinced as they cured kidney complaint and kidney complaint alone they could be depended upon. My faith was strengthened from the result received. I keep Dean's Kidney Pills constantly in the house and take a dose or two occasionally, for I find the treatment keeps my kidneys in a sound healthy condition."

WICHITA IS SLOW.

Former Wichitan Says Interurbans Are Great County Builders.

Thomas H. Sites, a former Wichitan, now lives in Newark, Ohio, and he is a great interurban enthusiast. In a letter to Colonel Murdoch, Mr. Sites says:

Dear Sir: In looking over your valuable paper for the last five months I am surprised that your citizens are so slow in acting upon the building of an interurban road from Wichita in every direction.

We have already two finished and another that will be completed to Zanesville by October 1st, and also one to Mt. Vernon that will be built in the coming year. These roads have been the making of our city. We have added to our population some 4,000 in two years and to manufacturing 30 per cent. One line to Columbus, taking in Buckeye Lake 35 miles in length, has made $120,000 for the year and its stock is par, $100.00 per share, and it paid a quarterly dividend of 14 per cent.

The road building to Zanesville will pay equally as well. On the strength of these roads and the abundance of natural gas that we have our city has erected in the last two years over 1,500 buildings and we have one among the largest street car shops in the United States from which we ship urban and interurban cars to Chicago, New York, Brooklyn and several other large cities. We also have the largest stone works in the world, working buildings being over 1,000 feet in length and two stories high. We also have the largest bottle glass works in the world and the finest fancy imitation cut glass in the United States. I put in $300,000 cash in property in Wichita during the boom but did not let go at the proper time, but I am sanguine that it will be the front if you will only get interurban roads leading into your city from north, south, east and west. Our interurbans are carrying nine-tenths of all the passengers and nearly all the local freight. Where we used to pay $1.50 to ride to Columbus we now ride for 50c. We get the second trip to Buckeye Lake—35 miles—for 25c. On this lake which is 11 miles around and well stocked with bass and other fish we have four large launches which take you a round trip for 10c. This road runs the Buckeye Lake park and also Idlewild park near the city and the cars are full to both places all the time. They run to Columbus and Buckeye Lakes hourly and half-hourly all day.

GOOD CROP YET.

George Ulth Thinks Corn May Come Out All Right.

Geo. Ulth returned yesterday from a trip to Zenda, and Spicy. He says that southwestern Kansas still has good prospects for a fair-sized corn crop. West from here to Zenda the corn, as a rule, is a little short, and some places the tassels are slightly burned, but Mr. Ulth believes that with a rain it will make a fair yield. Below Zenda there is a large strip of country where the corn is in fair condition. The ears are large and are filling well. In this strip of country there was a heavy rain on the third of July, and the prospects for a large crop are fine.
